Re: HB-298

Chairman Perry and Committee Members:

I write in support of HB-298, as sponsored by Representative Blewett. Without passage of this bill the judges in the City, Municipal, and Justices' courts across this state will continue to be denied the ability to exercise judicial discretion in sentencing traffic offenders and administer justice. In my nine year tenure as a judge perhaps no other piece of legislation has so adversely affected the courts of limited jurisdiction, or the citizens of Montana who do not hold a Commercial Drivers License (CDL) and whom appear before judges on minor traffic offenses, as the amendments made in the 2005 legislative session to the Title 61 provisions governing driver's records and the reporting of convictions to the Department of Motor Vehicles.

As a member of the Supreme Court Commission on Courts of Limited Jurisdiction I am actively involved in judicial education in this state. For the last three and a half years I have had an opportunity to speak with judges from all over the state as we have wrestled with this issue. With few exceptions those judges, and the Montana Magistrate's Association, were opposed to the previous amendment, and remain steadfastly opposed to the current law.

Under present law, with the exception of a parking violation, a judge is prohibited from taking any action which would result in a conviction for a traffic offense from appearing on any driver's driving record. Stated another way, no matter how good your driving record is, no matter the circumstances giving rise to the ticket, and no matter your age, your conviction will appear on your driving record. This is the single most important question on the minds of the hundreds of people who appear before me on minor traffic offenses and are concerned about their clean record, or the insurance ramifications of their ticket.

HB-298 represents a return to a common sense approach to sentencing minor traffic offenders and restores discretion to the sentencing judge. Equally important, the bill before you restores the original intent of the bill passed in the 2005 Session: to ensure Montana's compliance with the requirements of the Federal Motor Carrier Safety Regulations as they relate to Commercial Drivers Licensing.

The 2005 amendment, in language much broader than that required by the Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration, mandates the reporting of all "points" to the Records and Driver Control Bureau of the Montana Department of Justice.

The intent of the Bill was to require that violations of those holding a CDL appear on the driving record. (See attached "A"). The Quick Guide To HB 192 Proposed Changes reflects that the intent of the legislation was to conform Montana's CDL laws to the federal requirements. (See attached Exhibit "B"). Federal law did not and does not require that the points of all drivers be reported and included on their driving record.

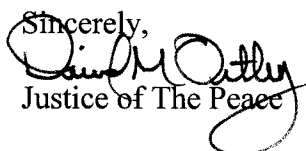

Under Montana law all moving traffic violations carry a minimum of two "points." The law currently prohibits any action on the part of a court that would result in the failure to report a conviction so that "points" may be assessed and placed on the driver's record. Simply stated, the 2005 legislation eviscerated judicial discretion, and resulted in complete chaos in the courts of limited jurisdiction. This resulted from the mandatory assessment of "points" on the driving record of thousands of motorists who clearly deserved the benefit of a deferred sentence, and the avoidance of the ramifications that inevitably flow from points appearing on the driver's record.

The Federal Motor Carrier Safety Regulations are comprehensive set of regulations governing commercial trucks and the operators of those trucks. The regulations also govern state licensing of commercial drivers and mandate compliance with those regulations to ensure uniformity in interstate commerce. They do not and are not intended to apply to the general motoring public. A state's failure to comply with the regulations can result in severe monetary sanctions through withholding of Federal-aid highway funds. (See attached Exhibit "C"). A state must maintain a record of all traffic convictions of those drivers holding a CDL. (See attached Exhibit "D"). A state commercial driver's licensing program may not take any action that would result in a CDL driver's conviction from appearing on the driver's record irrespective of where the driver is licensed. (See attached Exhibit "E"). This is what the 2005 amendment was meant to prevent.

In the fall of 2006 I attended a Faculty Development program at the National Judicial College in Reno. I spent four days studying the Federal Motor Carrier Safety Regulations, and preparing to return to Montana to instruct judges, prosecutors, and law enforcement officers in this complex area. The operation of commercial vehicles, and possession of a CDL, implicates safety issues that are not normally associated with passenger vehicles. Those issues warrant handling convictions differently when the violation is committed by the holder of a CDL, or someone operating a commercial vehicle the operation of which requires that person possess a CDL.

The amendments proposed in HB-298 represent a reasonable balance between the legitimate interest of the state and federal government as they relate to the operation of commercial vehicles and those drivers who have sought and obtained a CDL, and private citizens who carry automobile insurance and pride themselves in maintaining a clean driving record.

The judges of this state should be vested with the discretion to administer justice, and in the exercise of their discretion, defer the assessment of points where appropriate, and under the conditions deemed appropriate by the court. This bill reinstates this fundamental principle. I personally, and on behalf of the Montana Magistrate's Association, strongly support this bill and urge that your committee do the same.

Sincerely,

Justice of The Peace

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE
HB 192: Revision of Commercial Driver Licensing to Conform to Federal Mandates

Background

The Department of Justice, Motor Vehicle Division administers Montana's commercial driver licensing program. However, the program must meet the standards and requirements set forth in federal regulations adopted by the Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration of the federal Department of Transportation. These regulations are based on laws passed by Congress.

National Security After 9/11

After the September 11 tragedy, Congress adopted the USA Patriot Act and additional standards requiring background checks for commercial drivers endorsed to transport hazardous materials. On January 13, 2005, the federal Transportation Security Administration (TSA) of the Department of Homeland Security finalized the fee and agent rules governing this background check process.

Penalties for Noncompliance

With one exception pertaining to additional department-proposed amendments noted below, federal law mandates every change now proposed in HB 192.

If Montana's commercial driver licensing program is not brought into substantial compliance with federal standards, trucking companies and truck drivers who operate out of Montana will be negatively impacted, as will the State of Montana. Specifically, the state will:

- lose the ability to issue and renew commercial driver licenses to Montana drivers, potentially causing Montana trucking companies and drivers to relocate to other states;
- lose federal funding for the state's motor carrier safety assistance program (MCSAP); and
- lose five percent of its federal aid highway funds in the fiscal year following the state's first year of noncompliance, and 10 percent of the funds in each year following the state's second or subsequent year of noncompliance.

Hazmat Endorsements

In addition, if Montana does not incorporate the TSA background checks for commercial drivers with hazardous materials (Hazmat) endorsements, the department will be prohibited from issuing Hazmat endorsements to commercial drivers licensed in Montana beginning January 31, 2005, and from renewing Hazmat endorsements beginning May 31, 2005.

Support for HB 192

The Montana Motor Carriers Association and the major trucking companies it represents all support HB 192.

House Amendments

A subsection requiring new fees for endorsements to commercial driver's licenses was amended out of the bill in committee, with the support of the Motor Vehicle Division (Section 18, page 17, line 14-25). These new fees were not federally mandated.

Effective Dates

- January 31, 2005 – Hazmat background check requirements for new endorsements
- May 31, 2005 – Hazmat background checks for license renewals and transfers
- October 1, 2005 – Remainder of the bill

Additional Department-Proposed Amendments

To correct an unintended consequence of clarifying driver's license fee amounts in current law (Mont. Code Ann. § 61-5-111(6) – p. 17, lines 19-20), the Department is requesting amendments to adjust the driver's license fee distributions in Mont. Code Ann. § 61-5-121 to account for commercial driver's license fees separate from driver's license fees.

These amendments will ensure that the distribution of fees remains revenue-neutral as applied to the two state special revenue funds that are funded in part from driver's license fees, the MHP Retirement Account and the State Traffic Education Account. See, Assumption 8 in HB 192's Fiscal Note, As Amended.
